A Colorado Sheriff Shoots and Kills Three Escaped Prisoners.

Pitiful Story of Starvation Among North Dakota Indians.

The Government Steamer Dispatch Ashore - Secretary Tracy on Board-Disgraceful Scenes in a Church.

By Telegraph to The Times.
VICKBBURG (Miss.), March 16.—[By the Associated Press.] This evening the crewasse at Raieigh was one thousand feet or more wide, and the ends were caving rapidly. The levee is nearly fifteen feet high, and the impresser without of water delivered. and the immense volume of water delivered may be estimated by the fact that in the 24 cours ending this evening the river has allen three inches at Vicksburg and four es at Lake Providence, though rising from the crevasse will overflow fully one fourth of East Carroll parish and the greater part of Tensas and Madison parishes. The part of Tensus and Madison parishes. The crevasee has excited much consternation in these parishes, and stock is being removed. New Obligans. March 16.—A temporary leves has been erected along the city front. It is expected it will keep the streets clear of mater now. No further disasters are reported today, except the enlargement of the Raiseign crevassee near Vicksburg.

Gov. Nichola, having declined to receive the $100,000 denation tendered by the Louisians Lottery Company, the board of directors today decided to offer the fund direct to the various leves districts. As money is needed all along the line, the probabilities are the parishes will accept.

STARVING INDIANS.

an Urgent Appeal for the Chip-pewas of North Dakota. PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—[By the Ascolated Press. Bishop Shanley of North batota, in the Cathedral today, told a disable story of the privations and suffer-nce of the Chippewa Indians occupying the reservation in the extreme northern reservation in the extreme northern are of his diocese. His object was to cure assistance for their relief. He dembed vividiy the condition of these dians as witnessed by himself during the cast cold weather, when the thermometer arked 40° below zero. He charges the overnment with having stolen 11,000,000 are of iand this tribe possessed when area. Territory was divided between the cour and Chippewas, and not one cent cettle use could scarcely raise cours to keep them alive. He says their may a sure a miserably insufficient, and as any as six families are crowded into some them. They never have been supplied into proper agricultural implements. With lower sent them by the Catholic Indian inreau last spring they managed to break to acres of soil, but there was no rain, and say they are absolutely destitute—no rain, no food, no clothing. The United tates, he says, appropriates $5000 to these midans, about two dollars and a half each, his is spent for flour and fat pork distincted among them. The pork is sickning.

During the 18 months previous to the 1st January, out of 1400 Indians 100 died. uring January 27 died, and these deaths ere almost invariably the result of starvators. The bishop related many instances destrution, and said he would not have elleved the story had he not witnessed the enes himself.

WENT ASHORE.

BALTIMORE, March I.e. | By the Associated Press.] The Sun has a dispatch from Capt. Geogheghan of the steamer Sue. He reports the U.S.S. Dispatch went ashore at 4 p.m. on Saturday on Cedar Point shoal. The Sue pulled on the Dispatch until 3:30 o'clock this morning, but falled to move her. It is thought the yeare! will remain her. It is thought the vessel will remain ashore until a luli in the northwest winds permits the water to rise in the river. Secretary Tracy and party are on board, bound to Norfolk.

bound to Norfolk.

A disp-tch from the master of the river steamer Defiance reports that during the heavy storm yesterday an unknown achooner, supposed to be ian oyster vessel, was abandoned by her crew of five men near York Spit lighthouse. They tried to make the lighthouse in a boat. They were, however, overcome by the waves and all drowned.

FIGHT IN A CHURCH.

Disgraceful Scene Enacted by Priest

the Associated Press. A disgraceful scene occurred at St. Mary's Catholic Church just before the commencement of the morning service today. One of the parishioners named George Hughes, a prominent merchant of this city, and Father Early had had trouble over the right of Hughes to a name. When Hughes and son occurred it had trouble over the right of Hughes to a pew. When Hughes and son occupied it this morning the trouble was renewed, end-ing in Father Early hitting Hughes in the face. Afterward, three men, one Father Early's nephew, came to the lather's assist-ance, and a man named Cullen beat Hughes unmercifully in the face and on the head and neck. Hughes swore out warrants for the arrest of all four assainants. Father Early says Hughes struck him first.

SHOT BY THE SHERIFF.

Three Escaped Prisoners in Colorado Killed.

ered the Sheriff when he came in to give them their evening meal, and escaped.

The prisoners started up the Rio Grande River. On Friday morning Sheriff Hecker, with a posse, started in pursuit. This morning at daylight the officers discovered the runaways' camp. The fuglilives were called upon to surrender, but instead of doing so they opened fire upon the posse. The Sheriff returned the fire, shooting three times and killing his three men. None of the Sheriff's posse were injured.

Gen. Merritt has ordered six troops of tavalry to proceed to the Cherokee strip and oust the boomers there. A concentrated dent's proclamation ordering all settlers but the Cherokee strip to vacate is already having the desired effect. This, together with the orders received by Gen. Merritt at Fort Leavenworth to use troops, if necessary, to eject the boomers has already caused a considerable exodus from the forbidden territory. All day long trains loaded down with boomers were leaving the strip.

WILLOW SPRINGS (I. T.), March 16.— Neither the President's proclamation nor the order for troops to oust the boomer the order for troops to oust the boomers have yet been received here. Consequently, boomers are still arriving in their prairie schooners. Many townsite boomers are here, and considerable of a town has been laid off and surveyed. The boomers held a meeting today and organized the town of Willow Springs. Two fenale boomers were accorded the privilege of making first and second choice of corner lots.

CHIEF MAYES VERY MAD. WASHINGTON, March 16.—Chief Mayes of the Cherokee Nation, who came here to protest against the Government taking the tion by the boomers. He forcibly expressed the opinion that some of them should be shot down.

Cruel Poundkeepers.
SAN FRANCISCO, Murch 16.—In Oakland today, Isaac Cornfield, a Hebrew, 70 years of age, was letting his horse pick grass of age, was letting his horse pick grass that graw on a side streek, when the pound-keepers came along and tried to take up his horse. Cornfield, who is a pedidler, but has no family, tried to persuade the men to let his horse alone, as it was seemingly the only friend he had on earth. The poundmen tried to take the animal by force, when a struggle ensued, and soon Cornfield fell back dead. The feeling against the pound-keepers is intense.

Rev. Dr. Nichols Accepts PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—Rev. Dr. Nichols of St. James P. E. Church in this Nichois of St. James P. E. Church in this city, announced to his congregation today that he had accepted the election as assistant bishop of California. Dr. Nichols will virtually be bishop of California, as Bishop Kip has stated he would turn over the entire man agement of the diocese to him in case he decided to leave the East and accept the position of assistant bishop.

The California League.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—President
Mone of the California League stated tonight that the schedule of games would not be ready before tomorrow. According to the terms of the schedule as adopted, Stock-ton and San Francisco will open the season at Haight-street next Sunday, while the Oaklands will play in Sacramento. A pro-vision is also made for Friday games to be played in Oakland each week.

Hydrophobia in New York. Hydrophobia in New York.

New York, March 16.—A mad dog ran through the streets today and bit two boys and aman. The dog was finally killed by a policeman. The injured persons had their wounds dressed at hospitals. The dog had been made mad by bays, who plagued it. It ran about four nilles, and is thought to have bitten numbers of persons, but the cases of only three victims were reported to the police. •

Fire in a Reformatory.
CHICAGO, March 16.—Fire on the main floor of the House of the Good Shepherd in this city, at an early hour this morning, created a wild panic among the inmates. The Mother Superior and Sisters, however, managed by great efforts to hold the ziris in check, and no one was hurt. The fire was extinguished with slight loss.

A Mormon Protest.

Lord Randolph Churchill on His Defense.

He Denies That He Is Disloyal to the Unionist Party.

Fire in a Vienna Theater—The Spectators All Escape.

New Cabinets Announced for France and Hungary-Bismarck's Deal with the Clericals Causing Bitter Opposition.

By Telegraph to The Times. London, March 16.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Lord Randolph Churchill, in publishing his original protest against the Parnell Commission Bill, says he fails to see how this and his recent speech can be construed as disloyal to the Unionist party.

It seems to him that the charge of disloyalty might be more forcibly urged against those who, in spite of every warning, forced upon Parliament a measure, which, by its history and results, obviously dealt a heavy blow and results, obviously dealt a heavy blow at the cause and party of union. He ex-plained that when he sent his protest the commission bill was in embryo and the government contemplated abandoning it or at least withdrawing it, if it led to a protracted debate.

The chief objections urged by Lord Ran-

The chief objections urged by Lord Ran-dolph in his protest were: In the first place, the offer of the commission to a large extent recognized the wisdom of the ac-cused in avoiding trial by jury; in the sec-ond place, it was unprecedented; and in the third place, it was unwise or litegal to ongase judges in a political conflict which was certain to result in loss of respect. TWO NEW CABINETS.

CONGRESSIONAL

Forecast of the Coming Week in Senate and House, WASHINGTON, March 16 .- (By the As clated Press j An effort will be made in the Sepate tomorrow by Mr. Plumb, in accord-ance with his notice of last Wednesday, to displace the Educational Bill by his Land Grant Forfeiture Bill. If his motion is successful the belief is that the Educa successful, the belief is that the Educa-tional Bill will not again be heard from at this session of Congress. If the bill be further discussed it will not occupy all the time of the Senate until a vote is reached time of the Senate until a vote is reached. Thursday, as but one or two more speeches are to be made on the measure, beside the summing up by Mr. Blair.

The Urgent Deficiency Bill will be called up tomorrow, and early in the week the majority and minority reports upon the case of the Montana Senators will also be submitted, but it is the understanding that action will be postponed until the Biair Bill is out of the way. On Tuesday the Finance Committee will report Mr. McKnieg's Administrative Customs Bill to the Senate, and urge consideration thereof at the earliest practicable date. To secure this the committee will antagonize the Pacific Railroad Funding Bill. Mr. Sherman's Trust Bill, Mr. Hale's bill for the enlargement of the navy and the Dependent Pension Bill, all of which will be pushed for the first place as soon as the way is cleared by the execution of the present order for the Biair Bill.

Tomorrow being the third Monday in the month, committees calling up measures for action under suspension of the rules in the House will have the right of way. The Pension Appropriation Bill is ready for action, and will undoubtedly give rise of eneral pension legislation. The Direct Tax Bill is in a position where it can be called up any day, and members of the Ways and Means Committee express confidence in being and to report before the close of the week. Thursday, as but one or two more spec

Mebrew Seminary Work.

New York, March 16.—The blennial convention of the Jewish Theological Seminary Association was held today. Presedent Blumenthal, in his address, spoke hopefully of the prospects of the seminary. There are now 14 young men stucents in the seminary whom they hope to send out fully equipped with secular and Hebrew learning to take their places ably as teachers. See the beautiful this this.

"No work has been attempted in this country," said he, "more fraught with interest and importance to the future credit of American Jews than that in which this seminary is engaged."

Frozen to Death.
WESTON (Va.), March 16.—Charles Shaffer and Ida Conrad were found lying in an open field in the snow near town yesterday. Both were unconscious, and the woman's body was so badly frozen that it had begun to turn black. Shaffer's life may be saved, but the woman died soon after being found. They are supposed to have lost their way in a storm.

A Trusted Clerk Embezzies CHICAGO, March 16.—William M. Craig, confidential man of C. J. L. Meyer & Sons is missing, and it is alleged by a local paper that the company's books show irreg-ularities on his part amounting to thou-sands of dollars. He is said to have been speculating heavily in real estate.

There have been few juries which kept the Judge and officers of the court so completely on the qui vive on a Sunday as the jury in the Boyce case. They were called on during the day no less than four times, and Judge Shaw's Sabbath rest was rudely broken into by the repeated recalls.

was at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, wheat they were asked if they had agreed upon a verdict. An expression of long suffering passed over the countenance of Foreman Earl when he answered in the negative. He stated that one of the jurors, G.V. D. Brand, refused te vote because it was Sunday. The juror voted Saturday night before 12 o'clock, but when the midnight hour had tolled, declared that he would not had been anxious to reach this coast. The juror voted Saturday night before 12 o'clock, but when the midnight hour had tolled, declared that he would not profane the day by acting in his capacity as a juror. During yesterday morning, until called in by the Ccurt, the juror continued to-desist from acting in that capacity. Whenever the subject of the case was brought up he opened his Bible, and perused it, together with pamphlets of the Holiness faith, he being a member of a Pomona band. Not daunted by the jurors, he read aloud to himself, and at one time endeavored to hold a and at one time endeavored to hold a service and preach to them. This, however, the jurors would not submit to, and relegated the Holiness brother

AT 2 O'CLOCK the jury was again called in, and in response to the question of the Court Foreman Earl stated that they stood as before, and he saw no prospect of an agreement. He stated that the jury was divided as follows: "Eight, two, and two not voting." Judge Shaw asked how the division would be if all voted, and, after consultation, the foreman stated eight and four. He asked if there was any trouble as to the facts or the law, and the response was that there was a dispute as to the instruction in regard to Boyce's threats to publish the article about Justice Davige. The Court was the instruction gain and added a few words of explanation not differing from the instruction before given, and the jury was again locked up.

They divided upon the instructions of the Judge as to the nature of the threats by which Mr. Savage was induced to pay Boyce $50. In speaking of the old electric road in this city, the Topeka Capitol of March 5th says:

Charters were filed on Monday for two companies, as follows: The Electric Rapid Transit Company, empowered to do business at Topeka and Los Angeles, Cal; capital stock, $500,000. The Pacific Coast Electric Supply and Construction Company: capital, $500,000. These two companies were organized yesterday, and the following officers were elected for both of the companies: President, Dan McFarland of Los Angeles, Cal; vice-president, Byron Roberts of Topeka, Kan.; secretary and trasurer, W. W. Manspeaker of Topeka, Kan.

Roberts of Topeka, Kan.; secretary and treasurer, W. W. Manspeaker of Topeka, Kan.

Mr. McFarland, who is the president of these companies, is a prominent capitalist of Los Angeles, Cal., and largely interested in the business affairs and the development of that beautiful and thriving city. Messra, Roberts and Manspeaker, the other officers of the companies, need no introduction to the people of Topeka, both having been haven in the companies and intential citizens. The combined capital of these two companies reach $1,000,000; while the powers conferred upon them by their charters and the immense territory to be controlled by them in their operations render them two of the most comprehensive and important corporations organized in this State. The general offices of the companies will be in this city, but the branch offices will be located at San Francisco and Los Angeles, from which points active operations will be conducted upon the Pacific Coast. The business qualifications and the integrity of the gentlemen who are to manage the affairs of these companies are a sufficient guarantee of success.

GOLD-BRICK SWINDLE.

Sensation of Some Months Ago Revived-Mr. Cooper's Story. Some months ago a big sensation was caused by the perpetration of the "gold-brick swindle" ple-minded, one-eyed old man named oper, who lived at Wilmington Cooper was well off financially, and had recently married a woman much younger than himself, and at that time it was thought by some, from the circumstances surrounding the affair, that she was implicated in it. The case was implicated in it. The case was reported to the police, and considerable time was spent in looking it up, but nothing ever came of it, none of the money was ever recovered and the case dropped out of public notice. Affairs, however, did not progress smoothly in the Cooper household, and some time ago Cooper's wife left him and came to this city, where she is now employed as a cierk in a charge the jury. In doing so, nowever, he said that he could not allow Juror Brand to remain on the termtrial panel. He had no wish to ecerce him as to a matter of conscience, but as the laws of the State make it a necessity sometimes for juries to be in session on Sunday, it was only just to defendants who might be obliged to go to jail through the juror's strict views that he should not remain as a juror.

Mr. Brand then stated that he did not wish to receive the fees for Sunday, and the last scene in the Boyce drama ended.

How THEY STOOD ON SOME POINTS.

It was learned after the jury was discharged that upon one proposition the jury was harmonious; that the defendant lied when he said the affair with Justice Savage was about a subscription of stock to the Tribune.

They divided upon the instructions of says that he has learned lately that he has been victimized in more ways than one, among others, that he has been galled upon to pay bills for dresses for his wife at a certain house, but when he went to the place the man-refused to show him the account, and he wanted to know if there was not some legal means by which he could compel the house to show its books. Mr. Cooper is also very bitter against certain detectives and other officers, and tain detectives and other officers, and tain detectives and other officers, and says that only a short time ago one of the detectives who worked on the case came to him and wanted one of the 'bricks,' when he gave him a piece of his mind, telling him plainly that he thought he was implicated in the at-tempt to rob him, which accounted for the fact that nothing was ever dis-covered. The old man also implicates an attorney saying that the lawyer had assisted in getting money from

At one time they came within three votes of convicting the defendant of the crime as charged, nine jurors recording their belief that he blackmailed Justice Savage out of $50.

In other words the objections to returning a verdict of guilty were technical, while the entire jury felt, morally, that H. H. Boyce, the defendant, is guilty of the mean crime with which he is charged.

While the jury in the courtroom, at the last session with the Judge, did not state anything about the division, otherwise than has been stated, when they left the room some of them gave it out that they stood six to six on the last ballot, and that that was the division on the first ballot. At all events the jury disagreed, and there was not even a Scotch verdict.

WOMAN AND HOME.

HOME - MAKING AND HOUSE. BUILDING CONSIDERED.

The Ideal Home and Its Effect on Moral and Physical Health-Extensive Grounds an Absolute Requisite - Pictures and Good Books Necessary Essentials.

What kind of a home would you have, Susan, if you could have one after your own heart, in every particular? inquired a friend of mine with whom I had been familiarly chatting about home-making and house building, one day not long since.

Well, really, I do not know as I can put it into words, I replied. But a good deal of my home would be out of

"Out of doors?" she responded, with something of a puzzled air. That is, I should have extensive grounds about the house, with plenty ofshade, flowers, fountains and bright, sunny places, where I could study Nature in all her moods, and where Nature in all her moods, and where children should have ample room for out-of-door life. I should live very largely out of doors. I would write in company with bird and bee and butterfly, for I am sure that my thoughts would be freet, my imagination more active and my mind more cheerful with the companionship of the outdoor werld about me. Should you care for a grand spacious manaion you care for a grand spacious mansion with luxurious appointments? Not too elogant. I have been in palatial residences that did not seem homelike. There was a state-liness and grandeur about them that chilled me. They lacked the air of welcome and, of every-day joyousness and freedom. That is something that I should desire first of all. I should want everything to say this is you care for a grand spacious mansion should want everything to say this is home. If I were extravagant in anything it would be in pictures, and in fine napery, and all my table appointments. There is a spirit of refinement ments. There is a spirit or rennement comanating from a well appointed table which has its influence upon the character of a household. Pictures, an elegantly ordered table, and good books are potent factors in the household in are potent factors in the household in the cultivation of refined taste.

"Then another thing which I should look to would be large, afry, well-lighted rooms, for I think that both moral and physical health may be won from the sunshine. I should not keep them closed. I would not have a room in my house that was too good for daily use. And I should expend more thought upon my library than upon my drawing-room. I should like to make it a place that the children would love—the very pleasantest room in the love-the very pleasantest room in the love—the very pressures about it be?"

whole house."
"What kind of a room would it be?"
inquired my friend, as she gave a little pat to the embroidery that she was at work upon, and then held it up to determine what was the next shade of or wanted.

"it should be a room not less than twenty feet in length and about sixteen broad. I would have it project out a little beyond the main body of the house, and the width of the projection should be occupied by a plateglass window. The front side of the room, with its twenty feet of length, should be acardy all window, opening on to a broad versanda, beyond which I could see the drooping palms and bananas, and a mingling of cedars, orange, pepper and other trees. Beneath them should stretch out my green lawn, broken occasionally by a choice rose-bush or flowering plant. I would have my book-cases not much more than half the height of the walls, and above them should hang the best pictures that my money could purchase—etchings, steel engravings and paintings. Then I should have as many phetographs of landscapes, renowned cathedrals, cities, eminent men and women, etc., as I could afford, to illustrate the books of travel and biography that my library contained, and in my windows should be a cage biography that my library contained, and in my windows should be a cage for singing birds and a stand for flowers, and I would have the best books from the best authors, and I would see if that room did not lend an inspiration to the household that should have an influence upon its intelligence and refinement.

"Such a room as that ought surely to be a favorite one." "Would you have many novels on its shelves?" inquired my friend, as she set in the last stitches of a golden-winged butterfly which was perched upon a lily's stalk which stood out stiff and straight against a dim and shadowy background. "None of the purely sensational and trashy sort such as the world is flooded with nowadays. But good novels have their place in the worldsof literature as educators, and as sinch serve no mean purpose. The world is better for 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' having been written, and for the light that Dickens threw upon the folibles, weaknesses and eccentricities of human character. Ramona has preached great weaknesses and eccentricities of human character. Ramona has preached great truths; Ben Hur shines with the luster of early Christianity, and numberless works of fiction have been the evangels of important truths. They are sometimes the best preachers that we have. What pictures of Roman power and luxury do we find in 'The Last Days of Pompeli;' how does 'Hypatia' introduce us to the great men of history? We live and walk with them, and become familiar with their works and we five and wark with them, and be-come familiar with their works and ways through its pages. Yes, the novel has its place in the world, and the world could not do without it, any more than it could dispense with its more elaborate works of history and science.²⁷ science."

"I must go," remarked my friend,
"but some day I would like to go with you through this ideal home of yours. I like its library and am sorry that I cannot go further than that today.
Good-by!"
"Good-by." I answered, and then she went out and down the street, while I sat and builded a home that was fair to see, and peopled it with pleasant fancies.

a mixture of plaster of paris and nour, left lying around near the haunts of rats, is recommended as a means of thinning them out. The plaster is supposed to become impacted in the stomachs of the rodents and cause death. The mixture must be kept beyond the reach of fowls, or they will be likely to share the fate of the rats. But we can tell them of a better method than that. A cheap and very effective way to get rid of rats and mice is to put a little chloride of lime around their holes. Twenty-five cents' worth will clear out a whole colony. Nothing will eat it, and hence there is no danger of poisoning anything. Besides it is a disinfectant, and rats and hice leave as soon as they smell it. It burns their feet and they shun it.

An authority in Harper's Bazar says: Directions for curing corns usually begin with soaking the feet in warm water, and this is an excellent remedy, especially if a teaspoonful of borax be dissolved in the water. A kettle of hot water should be at hand to keep what is in the basin from cooling under 15 minutes. After doing this for three nights in succession, a large portion of the corn can usually be removed with a pointed but not sharp instrument. With the latter characteristic there is too much temptation to cut the corn out, which is exceedingly dangerous. Scraping or loosening is far better.

It is said that the pain may be greatly relieved by mixing two drams of muriatic acid with six drams of rose water, and wetting the corn with this mixture night and morning for three days, the feet to be scaked every evening in warm water into which one-third of the acid and rosewater has been poured. The corn will usually bear picking out on the third day.

Last Wednesday afternoon the funeral of Mrs. Simcox, mother of Mrs. W. A. Bell, was held at the residence of the latter. Mrs. Simcox had reached the advanced age of 83 years.

On Saturday evening the students of the college gave themselves a party at the music building. The evening was spent in musical and literary exercises, singing college soings, a "spread" the organization of a college students' association, and finally a spelling match. The name of the association thus begun is "The Students' Association of the College of Liberal Arta," and its object is to cultivate sociality among its members and encourage college spirit. All students in the college department are eligible to membership. The collegians experienced no little difficulty in having their party Saturday evening, owing to the jealousy of the seminary students, some of whom proposed to have their share of the eatables and to make their share of the music. They found on Monday morning, however, that "they who dance must pay the fiddler."

A Boggle in the Boulevard. Los Angeles, March 12 .- [To the Editor of THE TIMES. | Is it not an extraordinary thing that when we need good roads so much, it seems almost impossible to get them? The one I am impossible toget them? The one I am thinking of at present is the Pasadena boulevard, from Los Angeles. The work is progressing well on that part between the Campbell-Johnston ranch and the arroyo (the most difficult piece), which will, I believe, cost about three thousand dollars, but the bridge has to be built before this will be of any use, and as I understand the County Supervisors agreed to build this bridge, if Mr. Scoville would build the approaches to it. Now, that Mr. Scoville has fulfilled his part of the contract, the supervisors will not build the bridge, as they say it will be in the Pasadena limits. The Pasadena boundary line is not very clear, as it is the west bank of the arroyo, and I believe about half the bridge would be inside the line and half outside.

How does it strike you? It seems pittable to me.

La this the kind of freedom poet's paint,

Is this the kind of freedom poet's paint,

We shall never get there, this way,

CLOSING GAME BETWEEN OAK. LAND AND LOS ANGELES.

One of the Largest Crowds of the Season in Attendance-The Visitors Victorious by a Score of 5 to 4—One of the Players Knocked Out-Notes.

Twenty-two hundred and forty peo-ple, by actual count, witnessed the closing base-ball game yesterday be-tween the Oakland and Los Angeles clubs, which resulted in a victory for Oakland by a score of 5 to 4.

The game was a good one through-The game was a good one throughout, many brilliant plays being made by both teams. Oakland had Knell in the box and Brown behind the bat, while Los Angeles played the old reliable battery—Young and Lohman.

Los Angeles opened up the game by getting in one run in the first inning, Goldie scoring. They made one in the third, and one each in the seventh and eighth.

third, and one each in the seventh and eighth.

Oakland opened with a streak of heavy batting, knocking out four runs. In the second inning Young pitched Brown a slow drop ball, that took an unexpected curve, and struck the batter a severe blow on the left side of the nose, compelling him to retire from the game. Dungan took his place, and played a brilliant game. His base throwing was perfect. The home team found it very difficult to steal bases on his accurate throwing. He also developed a streak of heavy batting. Goldie played a fine game at second, making but one error, a low throw to Breckenridge at first, otherwise the game might have reotherwise the game might have re-suited differently. Both Young and Knell pitched a fine game. While Young was batted harder, the infielding of the local team saved him many base hits. Umpire Conn was more effective than on Saturday, but several of his decisions yesterday were decidedly wrong. However, the Oaklands won a good game of ball through their superior batting powers.

The following is the official score:

After this staggering proposition the typical Yankee showman will have to take a back seat.

A DISPATCH from Washington an nounces that a syndicate of capitalists, including George Hearst, has bought for speculation 750 lots at $300-$225. -this being described as "one o the largest real-estate deals made in Washington for years." Such a sale would scarcely have caused a ripple on the Los Angeles real-estate market three years ago, and even now nobody would dream of telegraphing the news of such a sale from Los Angeles to Washington.

NEW YORK is now beginning to twit Chicago with going back on its financial promises in regard to the World's Fair. Joseph Medill, in an interview, recently asserted that Chicago never said she could put up as much money as New York could raise never expected to pay all the expense of the fair, but will raise $10,000,000, and ask Congress to appropriate a like amount. To this the New York papers object, asserting that New York offered to relieve the Government from a single dollar of expenses, and that Chicago has no right to expect so large an appropriation.

LOS' ANGELES AS A RAILWAY every inch of it be wiped out and be CENTER.

The completion of another line of railway running out of Los Angeles emphasizes still further the already prominent fact that this city is exceptionally well equipped with railroad facilities.

An enumeration of the lines centering here, though not new to our own citizens, will be of interest to strangers in our gates and people beyond our borders:

, (1.) The Southern Pacific system, with its main line running north to San Francisco, the commercial metropolis of the coast, and eastward via Colton, San Gorgonio and the Colorado River to El Paso and New Orleans: and with one branch up the Santa Clara Valley of the South to Santa Barbara; another to the sea at Santa Monica; another to the port town of the southern metropolis, to wit, San Pedro; another to Whittier, the site of the State Reform School; and another to Santa Ana, the capital of our new county of Orange.

(2.) The California Central, of the great Santa Fé system, whose advent was celebrated only a few years ago, and whose coming has proved of such vast benefit to all Southern California; its main line traversing the great plains and the mountain regions ying between us and the Missouri River, and entering Los Angeles via the Cajon Pass, San Bernardino and Pasadena: with branches to San Diego (the "Surf Line") and to the sea at Redondo Beach, that young port which is steadily assuming commercial importance. (3.) The Redondo Railway, rebuilt by those men of action, the Messrs. Ainsworth and Thompson, and now being reëquipped with steel rails; connecting the city, via the Grand-avenue cable line, with the new seaside resort and embarcadero. (4.) The Los Angeles and Pacific running to Santa Monica by way of the incomparable foothills of the Cahuenga range, and touching the Pa-cific Branch of the National Soldiers' Home, where hundreds of the Nation's brave defenders are passing in comfort the evening of life—a spot that is destined to become the beauty spot of the Southern Coast. [This line, big in financial straits, is temporarily suspended.1

(5.) The Los Angeles County Railroad, winding through the sunny hills to the westward, and out into the charming vale of the Los Angeles River, to where Burbank sits and smiles. (6.) The San Gabriel Valley Rapid Transit Railway, running eastward to Monrovia, with a branch to the Raymond, and a possible squint toward Pasadena and the mountain rising be-

(7.) The Los Angeles, Pasadena and Glendale Railway, with one branch, a narrow gauge, up the valley of the Los Angeles River to the force and flourishing settlement of Glendale, and another, a broad-gauge line—the completion of which has just been celebrated-entering Pasadena, the second city of the county.

Los Angeles is thus, as we know. admirably equipped with railroads, be sides having the benefit of "the people's highway," the ocean.

Congratulating Pasadena upon the consummation of the important event which she has just celebrated, and congratulating Capt. Cross, the chief spirit in the schievement, let us hope that the next railroad celebration that the people of the leagued cities attend may be in honor of the completion of another overland line connecting Los Angeles and Pasadena with great coal mines and the mighty mineral mountains of Utah.

THE WORLD'S OUTLOOK.

London, New York and Chicago are not the only great cities of Chistendom. Paris, that center of the world's variety and pleasure, has a population of nearly three million. One-tenth of these are foreigners, who dock to that metropolis for the purpose of money making, for Mammon holds a brilliant court there, and the rich and the poor jostle each other in the crowded streets. Paris is France, and the best and the worst influences of the republic emanate from it.

This great world of ours is never weary of money-making and money getting, and its wealth is rapidly increasing. During the year 1889 more than a hundred million dollars' worth of gold was dug from the earth. California, Australia and South Africa yielded the largest proportion of it, and yet the great wealth of California is by no means in its gold.

The tendency of people to seek the life of cities is as marked in the United States as in any section of the world. The cities of the country are rapidly growing, both in number and popula-tion. New York, our American metropolis, has within its limits a district a square mile in extent which is the most densely populated of any district in the civilized world, containing, as it does in its narrow area, 289,000 people. Of the 6,000,000 inhabitants of New York State, 3,000,000 are found in its six largest cities.

The Treasury of the United States shows no tendency in the direction of bankruptcy. The gold now held by it amounts to $313,818,000. The Government has money enough for great systems of internal improvements. If a fraction of this vast sum can be appropriated to the purpose of reclaiming the arid lands of the Northwest it will add very materially to the resources and wealth of the country. We have millions of acres and unproductive lands can be made come populous and wealth-producing.

The great Mississippi Valley is suffering from terrible floods. The Ohio is a raging sea, in some places 50 miles in width. These figures alone stand for an untold amount of suffer ing and loss of property. Waste and desolation cover a wide extent of territory, and the business of a vast region along the banks of the Ohio, Mississippi, Arkansas and other tributa-ries to the Father of Waters is, of ourse, entirely suspended. The year 1890 has thus far been remarkable for its great floods. Everywhere almost throughout the country the rainfall has been abnormal in quantity. The earth has been thoroughly drenched, all the hidden springs and the great natural reservoirs of the land have been filled. Abundant crops will doubtless result in some sections from the unusual precipitation, and in the end, the gain will be much greater than

The Italian government is somewhat embarrassed financially, and it is rumored that it will try and raise a loan in the United States. It is only a free government and one that nurtures protection that is "endangered" by its surplus.

One of the notable events of the present month is the completion of the great Forth bridge, in Scotland. It is one of the greatest monuments to engineering skill ever constructed. The Prince of Wales presided at the opening of the bridge. This bridge is of steel, on the cantilever and central girder system, according to a plan designed by Sir John Fowler and Banjamin Baker. It is 8296 feet long. There are two spans of 1710 feet length, two of 680 feet, 15 of 168 feet, four girders of 57 feet and three of 25 feet, being masonry arches. At is 100 feet clear above high water for a distance of 500 feet in the center. The extreme height of the structure is 361 feet above high water and the extreme depth of the foundation 91 feet below high water. The spans are the longest in the world, exceeding the Brooklyn bridge by 110 feet. During the six and a half years of its construction 3500 men have been employed on this monster structure, which connects North and South Scotland by rail.

Among the churches we note a gratifying tendency toward greater union of action. The comprehensive mind of Rev. Dr. McCosh has grasped the details of a confederation of Protestant churches for parish and other missionary work. The scheme does not contemplate consolidation. Each church preserves its full identity. According to the philosopher's plan the Episcopalian remains under his bishop, the Methodist under his conference, the Presbyterian under his presbytery, the Congregationalist under his council, and the Baptist under his convention. The prime purchurch work and to insure strong, united effort in districts where new little is done by any denomination. This vast scheme, which in the past would have been utopian, is now among the possibilities. All the signs among the possibilities. All the signs point to such a confederation for practical work of the churches usually called evangelical.

THE RESULT OF THE BLACK-MAIL CASE.

After a trial lasting several days, the case of the notorious H. H. Boyce of the Los Angeles Tribune went to the jury on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. The jury was out all day yesterday, but after midnight on Saturday one of the jurymen refused to vote-the declared reason being religious scruplesand persistently kept to his deter-mination, so the jury was practically only in session during five hours. Nevertheless, the Court, believing that the jury could not agree, ordered it discharged at 6 o'clock yesterday even ing. At that time they stood, as reported, eight for conviction, two for acquittal and two refusing to vote.

Though not a legal conviction, the result of the trial is unquestionably the establishment in the minds of all who listened to or read the testimony of a deep-seated conviction that the defendant Boyce is guilty of the crime for which he was indicted

All through the trial, up to the very end, the intimation was thrown out that a terrible conspiracy was to be developed, and that the prosecution would be torn to pieces by an expose in regard to some such hinted-at conspiracy. This, however, was a signal failure, not even a solitary fact to prove a conspiracy being shown.

The "conspiracy" appears to have been one on the part of the prosecuting vitness, who conspired with the ofncers of the law to procure the conviction of a blackmailer.

In conclusion, it may be stated that if the report is true that the jury agreed that Boyce lied in his statement that the whole thing was a stock transaction between himself and Justice Savage, then the conclusion is irresistible that the money was paid for the suppression of the defamatory article, and it was therefore blackmail, pure and simple.

Important Decision by the Interstate Commission.
WASHINGTON, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.] The Interstate Commission yesterday decided cases brought against the trunk lines by F. B. Thurber and others of New York city known as the "carload cases" in favor of the complainants. Com-plaint was made of too great differences be tween the rates charged on carloads and less than carload quantities. The following are extracts from the decision: "Carriers are not at liberty to classify

P"Carriers are not at liberty to classify property as a basis of transportation rates and impose charges for its carriage with exclusive regard to their own interests, but must respect the interests of those who may have occasion to employ their services, and conform their charges to the rules of relative equality and justice, which the act prescribes. The cost of the service is an important element in fixing transportation charges, and is entitled to fair consideration, but is not alone controlling, and the value of the service to the property carried is an essential factor to be recognized in connection with other considerations. Public Interests are not to be subordinated to those of carriers, and require proper regard connection with other considerations. Public interests are not to be subordinated to those of carriers, and require proper regard for the value of the service in the apportionment of all charges upon traffic. A difference in rates upon carloads and less than carloads of the same merchandise, between the same points of carriage, so wide as to be destructive to competition between large and small dealers, especially upon articles of general and necessary use, and which, under the existing conditions of trade, furnish a large volume of business to carriers, is unjust and violates the provisions and principles of the act.

"A difference in the rate for a solid carload of one kind of freight from one consigner to one consigner, and less than a carload quantity from the same point of shipment to the same destination, consisting of like freight or freight of like character from more than one consignor to one consignee, or from one consignor to more than one consignee, or from one consignor to more than one consignee, and less known in trade as greecry articles are so classified as to discriminate unjustly in rates between carloads and less than carloads upon many articles, and a revision of classification and rates to correct unjust differences, and give these respective modes of shipment more relatively reasonable rates is necessary and is ordered."

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, March 16 .- [By the Associated Press.] One of the most atrocious murders that ever occurred in Washington was perpetrated tonight. Mary Harding, for several years has lived with Alfred Riggs and was regarded as his wife. Riggs is a tough character. While the woman was alone tonight, Riggs was seen to enter the house and make his way to her room. Precisely what probably never be known.

Screams of "murder" and "police" soon came from the room, and attracted the attention of the neighbors. A tenant on the lower floor, Warren Johnson by name, rushed up the stairs, and, throwing his weight against the door, burst it open. As he entered a terrible sight met his gaze. Riggs held the woman by the throat on the floor, while with his disengaged hand he was jabbing a knife into every portion of her body with the frenzy of a madman. Johnson rushed at the assassin and hurled him into a corner, from which he soon arose and made for the peacemaker apparently with the intention of killing him. He siashed and stabbed him several times, and would no doubt have killed him, but the approach of others on the stairway brought him to his senses. He jumped from the window and made his escape.

The woman was cut in as many as twenty-two places, and it is impossible for her to live, and Johnson received four very bad cuts.

A TURF SCANDAL Crooked Work in the Nelson-

Alcryon Race. BUFFALO, March 16 .- By the Associated Press. During the hearing in the National Trotting Association, yesterday, growing out of the noted Nelson-Alcryon race, an interesting affidavit was submitted, being that of G. W. Archer, president of Rochester Driving Park, and one of the udges of the race.

He affirmed, in substance, that a co of months after the race he met Frank Noble, who, according to Archer's understanding, had control of Alcryon during 1889; that Noble told him he had his horse shod a few days before the race so that no driver would drive him to win. Noble further stated to Archer that before the race hereap he had agreed that him to win. Noble further stated to Archer that before the race began he had agreed to let Nelson win the race and had Nelson's check for $5000 before the race started; that he (Noble) won second money and got $7500 out of the race. Deponent asked him, "Don't you think you are taking desperate chances," and Noble said, "What could you have done about it if you had observed fraud at the time?" Deponent replied if they had known the fraud at the time the judges would have declared the pools and race off.

MARY ANDERSON'S MARRIAGE AND RETIREMENT.

Sidney Woollett Criticised-Local Events-Frederick Warde Tomorrow-Dramatic and Musical

In Mary Anderson's marriage and retirement the American stage will- lose one of its brightest ornaments. But her choice is not open to criticism. When the woman dominates and subdues the actress, great as the loss may be to the public, it is tempered by the reflection that per-as the loss may be to the public, it is tempered by the reflection that perhaps it is distinctly her gain. Geniushas its obligations, but Fame has its penalties. The artiste who turns from the fretful power of the footlights to the sweet sanctity of the hearthstone sacrifices much that the world holds or high value, but it may be that she secures deeper and serener joysthan any that accompany the gratification of histrionic ambition.—[Dramatic Mirror.

The merits of Mr. Sidney Woollett as a public reader are the subject of some contradictory criticisms in the eastern press. And now the eastern anglomaniacs will soon have an opportunity for imitating the roys convulsions.

It is to be regretted that Frederick Warde's engagement has been further curtailed to two nights and a matinée. It is hard to see how he can expect to make money on such an arrangement. He opens tomorrow night in his favorite impersonation of "Belphegor," the mountebank, in which he made an excellent impression on his last visit here. In fact, Warde is the only actor on the stage today who can invest this difficult character with the requisite pathos and power. Aside from this, only routine business will come up, so far as known. The matter of loaning the city funds has been disposed of, so far as the Council is concerned at present. The hearing of the injuction suit will be had before Judge Van Dyke today, and until this is finally disposed of no further action can be taken. The recent decision of Judge Van Dyke, virtually declaring the acts of the commissioners for the opening and widening of streets unconstitutional, also puts a stop to further street improvements for the time being, and this will relieve the Council of considerable work, as a great portion of the time has been consumed of late in hearing protests of property-owners and other matters connected with street improvements. WOULD YOU LIKE TO LIVE YOUR LIFE OVER AGAIN?

The Answer Should Be No-A Fountain of Perpetual Youth Would Be a Nuisance-Each Generation Should Take Its Chance and Make Room for the Next

BROOKLYN (N. Y.), March 9.—
Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage preached this morning on the question,
"Would you like to live your life over life.

Many a captain has stood on the bridge of the steamer till his passengers got off and he drowned; many an engineer has kept his hand on the throttle valve or his foot on the brake until the most of the train was saved, while he went down to death through the open draw-bridge; many a fireman has plunged into a blazing house to get a sleeping child out, sacrificing his own life in the attempt, and thousands of martyrs have submitted to fiery stake and knife of massacre and headsman's ax and guillotine rather than surrender principle, proving that than surrender principle, proving that in many a case my text was not true, when it says: All that a man hath will he give for his life.

But Satan's falsehood was built on a truth. Life is very precious, and if we would not give up all there are many things we would surrender rather than surrender it. We see how precions life is from the fact that we precious life is from the fact that we do everything to prolong it. Hence all sanitary regulations, all study of hygiene, all fear of drafts, all waterproofs, all doctors, all medicines, all struggle in crisis of accident. An admiral of the British navy was courtmartialed for turning his ship around in time of danger and so damaging the ship. It was proved against him. But when his time came to be heard he said:

when his time came to be heard he, said:

"Gentlemen, I did turn the ship around and admit that it was damaged, but do you want to know why I turned it? There was a man overboard, and I wanted to save him, and I did save him, and I consider the life of one sailor worth all the vessels of the British navy."

the stiffness from the joint and the rheumatic twinge from the foot, and you shall be 21 years of age, and just what you were when you reached that point before."

If the proposition were made I think many thousands would accept it. That reeling caused the ancient search for what was called the Fountain of Youth, the waters of which taken would turn the hair of the octogenarian into the curly locks of a boy, and however old a person who drank at that fountain he would be young again. The island was isaid to belong to the group of the Bahamas, but lay far out in the ocean. The great Spanish explerer, Juan Ponce de Leon, fellow voyager with Columbus, I have no doubt, feit that if he could discover that Fountain of Youth he would do as much as his friend had done in discovering America. So he put out in 1512 from Porte Rico and cruised bear that Fountain of Youth he would do as much as his friend had done in discovering America. So he put out in 1512 from Porto Rico and cruised about among the Bahamas in search of that fountain. I am glad he did not find it.

There is no such fountain, but if there were and its waters were bottled up and sent abroad at $1000 a bottle, the demand would be greater than the supply, and many a man who has come through a life of uselessness, and perhaps sin, to old age would be shaking up the potent liquid, and if he were directed to take only a teaspoonful after each meal, would be so anxious to make sure work he would take a table-spoonful, and if directed to take a table-spoonful, and if directed to take a table-spoonful would take a glassful. But some of you would have to go back further than to 21 years of age to make a fair start, for there are many who manage to get all wrong before that period. Yea, in order to get a fair start, some would have to go back to the father and mother and get them corrected; yea, to the grandfather and grandmother and have their life corrected, for some of you are suffering from bad hereditary influences which started a hundred years ago. Well, if your grandfather lived his life over again and your father lived his life over again and your father lived his life over again, what a cluttered up place this world would be, a place filled with miserable attempts at repairs. I begin to think that it is better for each generation to have only one chance, and then for them to pass off and give another generation a chance.

A RIDICULOUS WISH.

want them. Things that in your previous journey of life stirred your healthful ambition, or gave you pleasurable surprise, or led you into happy interrogation. would only call forth from you a disgusted "Oh, pshaw!" You would be blase at 30 and a misanthrope at 40 and unendurable at 50. The most insane and stupid thing imaginable would be a second journey of life. It is amusing to hear people say: "I would like to live my life over again if I could take my present experience and knowledge of things back with me and begin under those improved auspices."

BROOKLYN (N. Y.), March 9.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage preached this morning on the question, "Would you like to live your life over again?" taking for his text the words, "All that a man hath will he give for his life."—Job ii, 4.

That is untrue. The Lord did not say it, but Satan said it to the Lord when the evil one wanted Job still more afflicted. The record is: "So went Satan forth from the presence of the Lord and smote Job with sore boils." And Satan has been the author of all eruptive diseases since then, and he hopes by poisoning the blood to poison the soul. But the result of the diabolical experiment which left Job victor proved the falsity of the stamic remark:

All that a man hath will he give for his life.

Many a captain has stood on the bridge of the steamer till his passengers got off and he drowned; many an engineer has kept his hand on the throttle valve or his foot on the brake until the most of the train was saved, while he ewent down to death through the open draw-bridge; many a fireman has plunged into a blazing house to get a sleeping child out, sacrificing his own life in the attempt, and thousands of martyrs have submitted to fiery stake and knife of massacre and headsman's ax and guillotine rather than surrender principle, proving that in many a case my text was not true. pictures on the walls and the most exquisite mosaics on the floor. In the streets were the deep-worn ruts of wagons, but not a wagon in the city. On the front steps of the mansions the word: "Welcome," in Latin, but no human being to greet us. The only bodies of any of the citizens that we saw were petrified and in the museum at the gates. Of the 35,000 people who once lived in those homes and worshiped in those temples and clapped in those theaters, not one left! For 1800 years that city of Pompeii had been buried before modern exploration scooped out of it the lava of Vesuv'us. Well, he who should be permitted to return on the pathway of his early life and live it over again would find as lonely and sad a pilgrimage. It would be an exploration of the dead past. The old schoolhouse, the old church, the old home, the old play-ground either gare or considered. the old home, the old play-ground either gone or occupied by others, and for you more distressing than was our Pompeiian visit in November.

MIGHT DO WORSE NEXT TIME. Beside that, would you want to risk I did save him, and I consider the life of one sailor worth all the vessels of the British navy."

No wonder he was vindicated. Life is indeed very precious. Yes, there are those who deem life so precious they would like to repeat it, they would like to try it again. They would like to try it again. They would like to go back from 70 to 60, from 60 to 50, from 80 to 20. Lourpose for very practical and useful pargoses, is will appear before I get through, to discuss the question we have all asked of others, and others have again and again asked of us, would you like to live your life over again?

The fact is that no intelligent and right-fearing man is satisfied with his past life. We have all made so many binstakes, stumbled into so many blunders, said so many things that ought not to have been said, and done so many things that ought not to have been said, and done so many things that ought not to have been done, that we can suggest at least 95 per cent. of improvement. Now, would it not be grand if the good Lord would say to you:

"You can go back and try it over again. I will by a word turn your hair to brown or black or golden, and smooth all the wrinkles out of your temple and cheek, and take the bend out of your shoulders, and extirpate the stiffness from the joint and the rheumatic twinge from the foot, and you shall be 21 years of age, and just look at the will on the rheumatic twinge from the foot, and you shall be 21 years of age, and just look at the multivate of the belle of the will appear to the town or when you reached that when you were when you reached that whith you were were when you reached that whith you were when you reached that whith you were were when you reached that which have got on so far tolerably well, if nothing more datu the though in many respects you have got on so far tolerably well, if nothing more the temptations of life over again? From the fact that you are here, I con-and just the blackness of darkness forever. Live life over again? Why, if many of those who are now respectable were permitted to experiment, the next for of the compartment of the com weave a stronger web of circumstances to catch him next time."

And Satan would concenter his forces on this one man, and the last state of that man would be worse than the first. My friends, our faces are in the right direction. Better go forward than backward, even if we had the choice. The greatest disaster I can think of would be for you to return to boyhood in 1890. Oh, if life were a smooth Luzerne or Cayuga Lake, I would like to get into a yacht and sail over it, not once, but twice—yea, a thousand times. But life is an uncertain sea, and some of the ships crash on the icebergs of cold indifference, and some take-fire of evil passion, and some lose their bearings and run into the skerries, and some are never heard of. Surely on such a treacherous sea as that, one yoyage is enough.

THE ONLY WAY TO DO IT.

THE ONLY WAY TO DO IT. Besides all this, do you know if you spoonful, and if directed to take a tablespoonful would take a glassful. But some of you would have to go back further than to 21 years of age to make a fair start, for there are many who manage to get all wrong before that period. Yea, in order to get a fair start, some would have to go back to the father and mother and get them corrected, yea, to the grandfather and grandmother and have their life corrected, for some of you are suffering from bad hereditary influences which started a hundred years ago. Well, if your grandfather lived his life over again and you! lived your life over again and you! lived your life over again and you! lived your life over again and you lived your life over again, what a cluttered up place this world would be, a place filled with miserable attempts at repairs. I begin to think that it is better for each generation to have only one chance, and then for them to pass off and give another generation a chance.

A RIDICULOUS WISH.

Beside that, if we were permitted to live life over again, it would be a stale and stupid experience. The zest and spur and enthuslasm of life come from the fact that we have never been along this road before, and everything is new, and we are alert for what may appear at the next turn of the road. Suppose you, a man in mid-life or old age, were, with your present feelings and large attainments, put back into the thirties, or the twenties, or into the teems, what a nuisance you would be to others and what an unhappiness to yourself. Your contemporaries would not want you and you would not want you are to meet you got to Oakiand, four or five mise this side of it, and then came you got to Oakia could have your wish and live your life over again it would put you so much pyears. When a man says he would like to live his life over again because it is the life of living as he has always his of the life of living as he has always lived, do you not see he stuthiles him and the life of living as he has always lived, and says on Thursday. "I wish I had been more predent in my dist, of life of living as he had been more proves that it would have been no advantage for him to live abeen no advantage for him to li

My young friends, I am glad you made this application of the sermon yourself. When a minister toward the close of his sermon says: "Now a few words by way of application," people begin to look around for their lats and put their hats and put their arm through one sleeve of their overcoats, and the ser-menic application is a failure. I am glad you have made your own applica-Quaker of whom I read years ago, who in substance said: "I shall be along this path of life but once, and so I must do all the kindness I can and all the good I can."

MISTAKES CANNOT BE RECALLED. My hearers, the mistakes of youth can never be corrected. Time gone is gone forever. An opportunity passed the thousandth part of a second has by one leap reached the other side of a great eternity. In the autumn when the birds migrate you look up and see the sky black with wings and the flocks stretching out into many leagues of air, and so today I look up and see two large wings in full sweep. They are the wings of the flying year. That is followed by a flock of 365, and they are the flying days. Each of the flying days is followed by 24, and they are the flying hours, and each of these is followed by 60, and these are the flying minutes. Where did this great flock start from? Eternity past. Where are they bound? Eternity to come. You might as well go a-gunning for the qualis that whistled last year in the meadows or the robins that last year caroled in the sky as to try to fetch down and bag one of the past opportunities of your life. Do not say, "I will lounge now and make it up afterward." can never be corrected. Time gone is

"I will lounge now and make it up afterward."

Young men and boys, you can't make it up. My observation is that those who in youth sowed wild oats, to the end of their short life sowed wild oats, and that those who started sowing Genesee wheat always sow Genesee wheat. And then the reaping of the harvest is so different. There is grandfather now. He has lived to old age because his habits have been good. His eyesight for this world has got somewhat dim, but his eyesight for heaven is radiant. His hearing is not so acute as it once was, and he must bend clear over to hear what his little grandchild says when she asks him what he has brought for her. But he easily catches the music raised from supernal spheres. Men passing in the streets take off their hats in reverence and women say: "What a good old man he is." Seventy or eighty years old for God and for making this world happy. Splendid! Glorious! Magnificent! He will have hard work getting into heaven, because those whom he helped to get there will fill up and crowd the gates to tell him how giad they are at his coming until he says: "Please to stand back a little till I pass through and cast my crown at the feet of Him whom having not seen I love." I do not know what you call that. I call it the harvest of Genesee wheat.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

This is a good time to beautify your

Our two competing roads to Los Angeles fairly make things hum.

THE canons with their cool nooks and babbling brooks invite the tourist. THE new stamps are not altogether satisfactory, but they make a letter go as fast and as far as the old ones. THE churches were largely attended yesterday. Some good seeds were doubtless sown by the eloquent utterances of the ministers. A system of fire alarms is needed to make our service effective. The apparatus is adequate and properly manned, but something more than a telephone is needed to tell where a fire is.

RAILROADS should be quicker in adopting some form of automatic couplings for freight cars. A brakeman by the name of Hall, who lost a leg while coupling cars for the Rock Island, has been awarded damages to the amount of $11,000. That would have paid for several couplers.

THE weather at present is proof against the attacks of the growler. He accordingly gets in his work on something else. A Pasadenian who used to say hard things about the color of "the sickly green 2-cent stamp" was heard to complain yesterday because the gum on the new design is not flavored with vanilla.

TEMPLES OF WORSHIP.

Notes of Some of the Religious Exercises Held Yesterday.

Yesterday was just right for churchgoers. The numerous places of worship were occupied by large congregations. Many of the pulpits were debo rated prettily with plants and flowers.

At the Baptist Church, Rev. O. B. Read, a well-known evangelist, began a series of protracted meetings. He presched both morning and evening, and forcibly impressed the large con-gregations assembled to hear him. Much religious interest has been maui-

Much religious interest has been manifested in this church lately.

The pulpit of the new Universalist Church was occupied at both the morning and evening services by Rev. Dr. Deere of Riverside. The sermons were eloquent and of much power. In the morning Miss Peck sang a solowith much effect, and sat night Prof. D. W. Kyle delighted all present with its splendid voice.

THE ROUNDER.

One Way to Solve the Negro Problem-Local Lady Equestrians-Don't Worry-La Grippe's New

It may interest some Pasadenians who have expressed themselves as exercised over the matter of the negro problem to know that Cardinal Gibbons regards the evangelization of the negroes as the best means of solving the problem, and so began his course of lenten sermons by taking up a collection for that purpose. We take occasion to suggest that part of the liberal contribution would be well spent in evangelizing whites who help to make the negro a problem.

At the Valley Hunt's meet Saturday a remark was overheard to the effect that Pasadena has as large a number of skilled lady equestrians as can be of skilled lady equestrians as can be found in any town of the size in the country. Few will dispute this assertion. In the Valley Hunt alone there are numerous young ladies who not only ride, but ride well. A festive young eastern gentleman, the other day, started out for a ride with one of Pasadena's best riders of the female persuasion. The young man said he knew a thing or two about riding, and was atraid of being bored by being compelled to ride at a slow pace out of pelled to ride at a slow pace out of consideration for his companion. The couple were gone about three hours, and when the young man returned he was a veritable wreck. He was covered with dust from head to foot, his face with dust from head to foot, his face was of a brilliant carmine hue, and after he had dismounted he walked in a manner pitiable to look upon. In response to an inquiry as to the cause of the trouble, he said: "That girl rode too deucedly fast. I never before covered the ground so rap dly on a horse; and she kept it up the whole three hours. I thought I knew what riding was, but I pass." And then the sufferer went and ordered dinner served on the mantel-piece.

A local physician told the Rounder yesterday that worry shortens life very materially. To back up what he said, he produced a book on old age recently published by a well-known scientist. The volume gives the results of information concerning nearly nine hundred persons who had attained the age of four-score or more. The deductions, however, made from the statistics are however, made from the statistics are of no special value to any young person who may wish to attain to an extreme age. People robust and delicate, temperate and intemperate, the man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow and the man of intellect, smokers and the uon-smokers, those who exercise and those who don't, the vegetarian and the meat ester, all are represented among the old-timers. The only conclusion of great practical value obtained from these statistics is that men and women who do not that men and women who do not worry have the longest lives.

Now that la grippe has disappeared from our midst, we can refer to a new characteristic of the influenza without causing alarm. Several patients in Italy have fallen into a lethargic sleep, from which the attending physi-cians have found it impossible to awaken them.

hatched. Keep them in a comfortably warm brooder away from light or drafts.

The instinct of the hen to set, especially of the Asiatic breeds, needs some curbing, even for success in incubation. If the hen does not get off at all to eat for several days, the eggs become addled from too much warmth and exclusion from the air. Wetting the eggs is also important, not to soften the shells, but to prevent the drying up of their lining inside the shell, which, while moist, admits air enough through it to preserve the life of the germ. Hens that set themselves out of doors usually hatch their entire setting. They are forced to hustle for their food, are often wet by rains and dews, and this keeps the eggs moist.

A correspondent of the San José Mercury writes as follows: I protect all kinds of birds on the farm—every quail is worth $10 as a worm, or better say, moth destroyer. I have scarcely any moths in the orchard since I stopped all shooting on the farm. The large enakes which boys are so fond of killing are our best triends as gopher destroyers, and should be protected everywhere. I see most planters place a shake or piece of board to protect young trees from the sun. I plant a few sunflower seeds on the south side of the tree, and as they grow up they form a much better shield and are no drawback to the tree whatever, besides affording a crop of chicken feed.

A foothill farmer, W. J. Wesley, living northwest of Pomona, has devoted an everage of an hour each day for the past year to his poultry, and he declares from his own experience that there is good money in the business. He has investment and little labor he has had $387 from the sale of eggs and chickens since last September. The Raymond Hotel alone has paid him $245, and he had orders for much more poultry from that hotel. And vet in the face of such experience.

The Raymond Hotel alone has paid him $245, and he had orders for much more poultry from that hotel. And yet in the face of such experience, there are a lot of mossbacks here and there about Southern California who will gravely inform you that poultry keeping cannot possibly be made a success.—[Pomona Progress.

Guineas are such interesting fowls, so peculiar in their habits and characteristics, that it is strange so few people engage in raising them. Their remarkable egg-production alone should be a sufficient inducement. The hens begin laying in March and continue steadily on until frost. Although the eggs are smaller than those of a common hen, they are decidedly richer, and usually bring in market a higher price, as they make up in flavor what they lack in size. When dressed, the guinea is a plump, shapely bird, about the size of a Brown Leghorn hen. They have small bones, full, broad breasts, and although their flesh is somewhat dry, yet, when well larded, it is remarkably tender, juicy, and the guinea is in great demand when game is out of season, as its flesh, more than that of any other domestic fowl, resembles game in its flavor.

All day yesterday men were at work packing and arranging the fruit for shipment. Most of the fruit has either snipment. Most of the fruit has either been sold or donated to the Chamber of Commerce for its permanent ex-hibit. The Pavilion will be cleaned up today, and will be turned over to the skating-rink people, who will put in a new floor.

A portion of the country between A portion of the country netween Pico and Washington streets, just beyond the city limits, was flooded yesterday from the overflow of the Rosedale zanja. The water was turned in the ditch, but from the fact that it has been stopped up, the water was wasted to a great extent, failing to reach the people for whom it was intended.

A census bulletin has been received stating that, acting under the authority conferred by the 18th section of the act of Congress providing for the taking of the eleventh and subsequent ing of the eleventh and subsequent censuses, the Superintendent has withdrawn entirely from the enumerators the collection of statistics of manufactures and placed the same in charge of experts, in such localities as he deems necessary and expedient. The Los Angeles district is in the list, and all statistics of this nature will be gathered by an expert appointed for this purpose, Testerday morning about 1 o'clock a gang of men came out of a saloon on First street, where they had been carousing, making considerable noise and disturbing every one in the neighborhood. Officer Rickenbach asked the men to desist, when one or two of them became very abusive, and the officer attempted to arrest one of them. The other members of the gang insisted that he should not be taken, and showed fight. The officer, however, stayed with the gang and landed the two ringleaders at the City Prison, where they gave the names of Fred Malsted and Charles Fritzier, and were booked for disturbing the peace. Two others were also booked as witnesses. The officer had his wrist strained in the tussle, but is not laid up.

A WOULD-BE HERO.

An 11-year-old Boy Who Wanted to Kill Indians.

Chief Glass yesterday received a telegram from El Monte, asking him to look out for a boy named Arthur Jones, who had run away from his home at that place Saturday morning to keep from going to school. The telegram was read to the noon watch, and about 7 o'clock Officer Harvey telegram was read to the noon watch, and about 7 o'clock Officer Harvey found the runaway on Same Fernando street. The patrol wagon was sent after him, and he was brought to the police station by Officer Farmer and locked up for the night. The boy's uncle has been notified, and he will be held until he can come after him, which will probably be today.

The boy is only 11 years old, and rather small for his age. He has been reading dime novels, and got it into his head that he was destined to become a great Indian fighter. He refused to go to school, and when his uncle, with whom he has been living, threatened to punish him, he ran away and started out on his tour of conquest, which was brought to a rather abrupt ending. The boy told Officer Farmer that his mother had died when he was only five months old, and that he has been reared by his uncle. He said the reason he ran away was because his uncle had threatened to have him put in jail for reading dime novels. He walked to Shorb's Saturday night, where he slept in the station, and walked into town yesterday. He had made arrangements to sleep with a San Fernando-street fruit-dealer last night when he was arrested. He said that he intended to return home today, any way, as roughing it was not what he had looked for.

ONLY A SCARE.

A Barkeeper Gives His Friends a Bad Fright.

A barkeeper called "Frenchie," or C. E. Gardner, at the Alhambra saloon, gave the guests of the Pico House a scare last night at 10 o'clock. He gave out that he intended to commit suicide and went to his room. Shortly after, some of his friends visited his room and found him in what they thought to be a dying condition. They telephoned for the patrol wagon, and Officer Leverich responded. On reaching the room the officer found that Gardner had simply taken an overdose of whisky and was in a beastly state of intoxication. Gardner has had trouble with his girl, who refused to come and see him when his friends went for her. The officers left him in his room, as they did not think there is any danger of his taking an overdose of anything stronger than whisky. phoned for the patrol wagon, and

STATE ANALYST Prof. RISING, and Prof. WENZELL.

In their Report on awards for classes 38 and 39 of the Mechanics' Fair, give the Royal Baking Powder the high distinction of superiority over all other baking powders known:

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., October 9, 1889.

Your committee have made a very careful examination of the Royal Baking Powder and are satisfied that it fulfills all the requirements which the public can make of a baking powder. For purity and care in preparation it equals any in the market, and our test shows that it has greater leavening power than any other of which we have any knowledge.
